

There is a Director, Joseph P. Geiger by name,
He conducts the Chorus, which has brought Inland fame.
He called for auditions and children came by the score;
They sang and they sang and he wanted to hear more;
Rehearsals have started and now his job is two-fold,
For soon he must choose a Chorus from the new and the old.

JOSEPH P. GEIGER — And the "Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe" have lots in common... lots of children, that is. But, there the comparison ends for Geiger, unlike the Mother Goose character, knows what to do. He has 245 children rehearsing for the Inland Children's Chorus. Seventy are new this year and many will find a place with the famed singing group, which is starting its 24th season. Rehearsals are being held throughout the week and on Saturdays. This will determine the members of the Concert, Understudy and Junior Chorus groups.

Courtesy of Susan (Gmaz) Jones