

Critics Concert Guests Tonight

J. H. Thuman, Cincinnati, former dramatic and music critic and now manager of the Artist Series in Cincinnati, Dayton and Louisville, as well as several other music critics from out of the city, will be the guests of Wallace S. Whittaker, at the concert, Tuesday night, in the Masonic temple auditorium of the Dayton Philharmonic orchestra and the Inland Children's chorus.

Mr. Whittaker, who is general manager of the Inland Manufacturing division of General Motors, is the originator of the children's chorus, which is composed of 100 sons and daughters of Inland employes. The chorus was organized two years ago and has been under the direction of Richard Westbrook.

The same program as is being offered on the Philharmonic course Tuesday night will be presented as the Scottish Rite Christmas entertainment in the temple Wednesday night for Masons and their families.

See the "DPO Concert" for December 20, 1938 on the programs page. This program includes and published reviews of the concert and autographs.

Many Dinners Are Planned

MANY informal dinner parties are on the schedule for Tuesday night as a social preface to the annual presentation of the Inland Children's Chorus with the Dayton Philharmonic Orchestra in the cathedral of the Masonic Temple at 8:30.

The combined concert is one of the social-musical highlights of the holiday season and a number of musical critics and devotees of choral music from neighboring communities are to be guests of various patrons of the orchestra.

One hundred children trained by Richard Westbrook, will participate in the concert. Adding to the gayety of the spectacle, the girl choristers will be garbed in quaint blue taffeta costumes and the boys will wear Eton-jacket suits.
